

MYRIAD

As part of our Purely Protected® collection, Myriad features a unique tri-tone pattern, giving it a distinctive appearance. Crafted using a hand-wiped technique, pigments are applied and wiped by hand, resulting in a natural and textured look similar to an aniline leather. The color distribution is random, ensuring subtle color variations so that no two hides will look exactly the same. Each piece of leather in the Myriad collection showcases three distinct colors, creating a gradient and layered tri-tone finish, which gives the leather depth and character. Designed for high-traffic use, this leather is ideal for any project, and the only Purely Protected® tri-tone leather offered at Carroll Leather. Appreciate natural characteristics such as scars, belly wrinkles, scratch marks, and insect bites, which are signatures only genuine leather can exhibit.
